Pictorial Report

ITINERATION . . . AGAIN

We had a little chat with Pastor Daniel Yong a couple of weeks ago in the Council office. As the only fully accredited World Missions Dept (WMD) missionaries, both Daniel Yong and we have to "itinerate" to raise our support. We were comparing notes about our itineration plans and how this can be a real challenge for WMD missionaries. However, we also realize the immense benefits of working with our own Assemblies of God national missions agency. Here are some of the more obvious benefits that Moon Tee and I can think of:

1. We have a national body "backing" us and spiritually supporting our ministry. As nationally-sent missionaries, we are readily accepted by our receiving field.
2. Our lives become an encouragement to more people because as we itinerate, we are also challenging churches and individuals to consider missions in their lives.

We were very privileged to have the WMD Director, Rev Chris Pak and his wife Katrina visit us in Baguio.

3. AG Churches all over the country can have "ownership" over us so that even the smaller congregations that cannot afford to send out people on their own can claim us as their missionaries.

Therefore, we see itineration as more than fund-raising. In fact, we almost never talk about our financial support when we itinerate. Itineration is a time to re-connect with our partners and tell them of the good work the Lord has privileged us to be a part of.

CHINA OPPORTUNITIES

We cannot talk about Asia Pacific without including China. In the years to come, the Chinese church will probably become the largest missions-sending church in the world. Moon Tee and I are privileged to have been given the opportunity to do something related to China. Over the past year, Moon Tee taught English to 3 Chinese students preparing to enroll in APTS.

We are looking forward to having more Chinese students on campus. To do this, we are working on a special fund to bring in more students from China. If you are interested in having a part in this effort, please let us know.

APTS & Moon Tee's GRADUATION

The graduation service is of course the highlight of the APTS calendar. We have one of the highest number of graduates this year, with almost 50 students from all over the Asia Pacific region graduating (including extension centers). There were also 3 Malaysians graduating on campus: Jenny Liew (D.Min.), Gideon Yong and Moon Tee (both M.A.).

We are very happy that APTS is also serving the Malaysian field in offering affordable quality graduate and post-graduate seminary education for Malaysian pastors. With us working in APTS, we expect more Malaysians to consider coming to APTS for their studies.
